

Nurse Assistant Program

THE CNA PROGRAM

The Nurse Assistant Training Program at Glen Oaks College is designed to prepare students to sit for the California Certification Examination to become Certified Nurse Assistants (CNAs).

The objective of the Nurse Assistant Program is to teach students to provide quality care for residents in long-term care environments, maintain residents' dignity, and improve or maintain quality of life. Students also learn how to take care of patients' basic needs, including bathing and feeding. Students learn to be proficient in technical skills, such as taking vital signs, tracking patient progress through charts, and performing certain emergency procedures. The program also addresses the complex social, legal, and ethical issues that result from prolonged care. Good bedside manner is covered through interpersonal communication practice and knowledge of patients' rights, resident care procedures, and rehabilitation. Within this course the student will also receive CPR training and take required examinations for certification. HIPPA and OSHA certifications will also be issued.

The course consists of theory as well as clinical hours.

Duration: Total Clock Hours: 184;

Theory Hours: 84; Clinical Hours: 100
